➤ Exciting opportunities exist for commercial agriculture in Africa and Asia. The combined impacts of climate change, population growth and diminishing resources are creating substantial increases in commodity prices and renewed interest in large scale plantations and estates. MASDAR has over 35 years experience in this sector through activities including investment appraisal, project implementation and estate and outgrower management. We have worked with many crops including oil palm, rubber, tea, coffee, cereals, soyabean and biofuels. Clients have included investment funds, IFCs, private companies and national governments.

MASDAR's extensive experience throughout Africa and Asia and our network of contacts puts us in an ideal position to develop the exciting investment opportunities that agriculture currently offers.
